

“My school was so tough, police used more chalk than the teacher.” Hamnet Wall

“I tried to buy flowers for my wife, but stores were closed. Finally, I found a bouquet, and left a twenty on the tombstone.” Hamnet Wall

“A 30-year reunion was so cliquish!
I got the cold shoulder just because I didn't attend their school.”

Hamnet Wall

“Times are so tough, the Tooth Fairy left her own teeth under my pillow.”

Hamnet Wall

“Colorado’s a strange state; everyone’s into health and drugs.

There’s a 5K run toward heroin event.” Hamnet Wall

“I tried the low-cost, high-protein diet, but cat food tastes like garbage.” Hamnet Wall

“People say to celebrate each small success. So, every time I lose one pound, I do binge eating for a week.”

Hamnet Wall

“I went every day to a gym religiously, even after it turned into an all-you-can-eat buffet.”

Hamnet Wall

“My doctor said, “A little exercise, take baby steps.”

It took 8 hours to walk around the block.”

Hamnet Wall

“I lost thirty pounds on the food truck diet.”

It's the food poisoning.”

Hamnet Wall

“I look carefully at both sides of an argument:

why I’m right and why you’re wrong.” Hamnet Wall

“I dreamed of climbing Mount Everest,
but decided to die of natural causes instead.” Hamnet Wall

“Machiavelli said, ‘It’s better to be feared than loved.’

Perhaps, but not on a first date.” Hamnet Wall “I’m doing this bit in English.

I tried it in Morse code, and it bombed.” Hamnet Wall

“My doctor gave me a stress test.

He showed me
the bill.”

Hamnet Wall

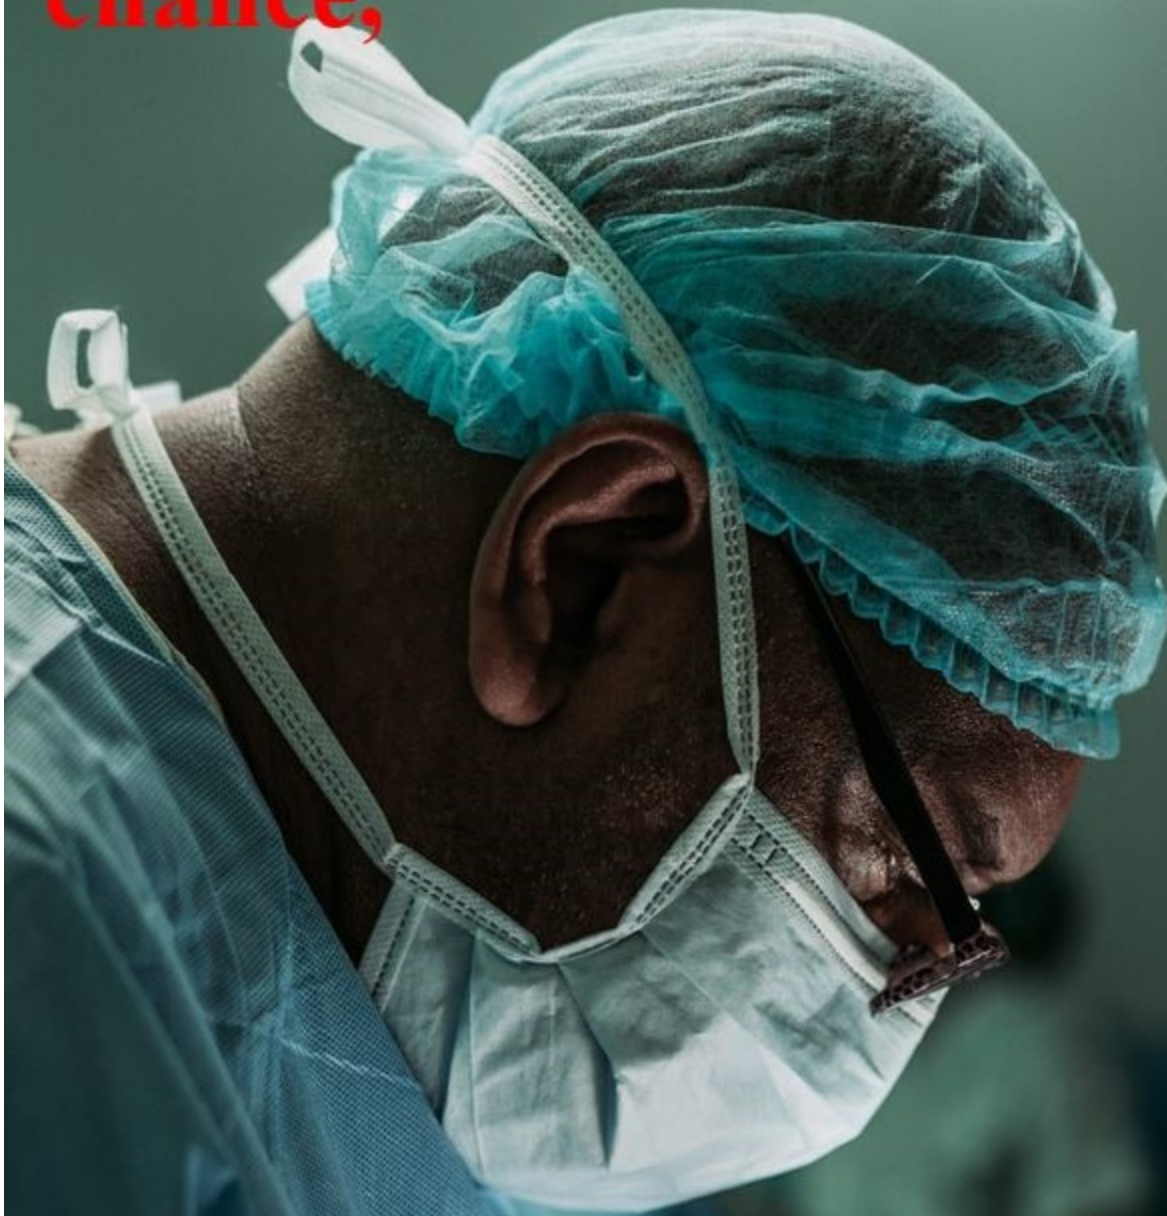

“A man with frostbite asked how tall he’ll be with legs cut off at the knees? The doctor said, ‘You’ll lose two feet.’”

Hamnet Wall

“Always give people a second chance,

unless they amputate the wrong leg.” Hamnet Wall

“My doctor is a narcissist.

His second opinion is he has great abs.”

Hamnet Wall

“My psychiatrist said denial is normal, so I returned his bill.”

Hamnet Wall

“Never get a heart transplant
before lunch,

if your doctor's a cannibal.”
Hamnet Wall

“Health food will always cost more because depression pills are expensive.” Hamnet Wall “Diets don’t work!

Eating plants make

hippos fat.” Hamnet Wall

“Everybody has to cut costs.
My eye doctor does surgery in a public bathroom.”

Hamnet Wall

“For 3 months, I tried to get a six-pack at the gym, but they don't sell beer.”

Hamnet Wall

“In a freak accident, a poker player lost his hand.” Hamnet Wall “Law of Attraction says to act rich if you’re poor.

Send your butler to get food stamps.” Hamnet Wall “Blaming obesity on food is like blaming the couch for unemployment.” Hamnet Wall “Camping helps me to reflect on things I love, like shelter and electricity.”

Hamnet Wall

An aerial photograph of a vast, frozen body of water, likely a lake or sea. The ice is broken up into a complex network of irregular, interconnected channels and floes. The channels are dark, suggesting open water or very thin ice, while the surrounding areas are a lighter, textured white. The overall appearance is that of a fractured, porous surface.

“I crawled to save an animal on thin ice, but as I got closer,

the duck flew away.”

Hamnet Wall

“Autofill is too aggressive. I typed fun vacation.

It told me to pay cash or don't go, scumbag!” Hamnet Wall

A hand holding a black graduation cap with a gold tassel in front of a blurred university building.

“Most people don't use their college diploma as they should because toilet paper is softer.”

Hamnet Wall

“IF YOUR STANDARDS ARE LOW ENOUGH,

FAILURE IS IMPOSSIBLE.”

Hamnet Wall

An aerial photograph of a nuclear explosion, showing a large, billowing white and grey mushroom cloud rising from a dark, circular impact point on the ground. The surrounding landscape is dark, with some lighter patches of land and water visible. The sky is filled with smaller, scattered clouds.

“If one atom can produce explosions,

postal employees are underachievers.” Hamnet Wall

“My stockbroker called me with horrible news.

His commissions are down.”

Hamnet Wall

“I couldn’t wait to be older. In third grade, I wore a hearing aid.”

Hamnet Wall

“My niece complains about finding expensive pearls, and how hot it is at the landfill.

Hamnet Wall

An open notebook with a pen resting on it, placed on a wooden stump in a field of tall grass. The notebook is open to a page with handwritten text. The pen is a dark color with a silver tip. The wooden stump is weathered and has some small plants growing around its base. The background is a field of tall grass, some of which is golden, suggesting a sunset or sunrise.

“Someone’s diary said they had trust issues.

I felt so bad, I scrawled: Trust Again!”

Hamnet Wall

“Website MD Quack .com said my toddler either has a fever or he’s going through menopause.”

Hamnet Wall

“CRIME RATES WOULD DOUBLE IF GOVERNMENT INCLUDED

THEIR CRIMES.”

HAMNET WALL

A silhouette of a person stands in the center of a dark, empty room. The room has a grid ceiling with a single light fixture that casts a bright glow on the person and their long shadow on the floor. The overall atmosphere is dark and mysterious.

“Crime rates are so high,

the morgue has a Black Friday sale.” Hamnet Wall

“Cutbacks for police are so bad, they use

Mortuary Undertakers entrance

If you do not receive a response please go to hospital main reception for assistance

a corpse as a therapy doll.”

Hamnet Wall

“Most crimes aren’t planned well.

Rage and meth make you a tad spontaneous.” Hamnet Wall

“I don’t believe poverty causes crime. Jeffrey Dahmer was not one pay raise from being Gandhi.”

Hamnet Wall

“A violent paranoid has this crazy idea

people are avoiding him.”
Hamnet Wall

“Never get a
heart transplant
before lunch,

if your doctor's a cannibal.”
Hamnet Wall

“Trust your feelings, unless you pack parachutes, and feel lazy.” Hamnet Wall “Animals today are so precious, every Happy Meal has a mugshot of who killed the cow.”

Hamnet Wall

“Emotional eating means:

popcorn makes me cry, not the movie.” Hamnet Wall “Emotional eating means:

a five-course meal is group therapy.” Hamnet Wall “Diets don’t work. Fat-shaming is a sales promotion

for All-You-Can-Eat buffets.”
Hamnet Wall

“Even toddlers grow up fast.

They rant, ‘This rat race is sucking my soul dry!’”

I went to a cannibal psychologist.

She asked, “What’s eating you?”
Hamnet Wall

“I saw an FBI Most Wanted poster. It looked like employee of the month pics at McDonald’s.”

Hamnet Wall

“My cousin couldn’t sell his old mattress, just because he found it at the landfill.”

Hamnet Wall

“My teen quit his job over a misunderstanding.

His boss expected him to work.” Hamnet Wall “Stop running from yourself!

You'll need energy to be someone else.” Hamnet Wall

“Embezzlement at the bank at night surprised my cousin.

He thought that he was alone.”

Hamnet Wall

An underwater photograph of a cave interior. A diver is visible in the upper right, silhouetted against a bright opening at the top of the cave. Sunlight streams down from the opening, creating dramatic rays of light. The cave walls are dark and rocky, with some coral or marine life visible. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and dramatic.

“I had a near-death experience.

I was a passenger in my grandma’s car.”

Hamnet Wall

“I’m softer on crime, if I commit it.”

Hamnet Wall

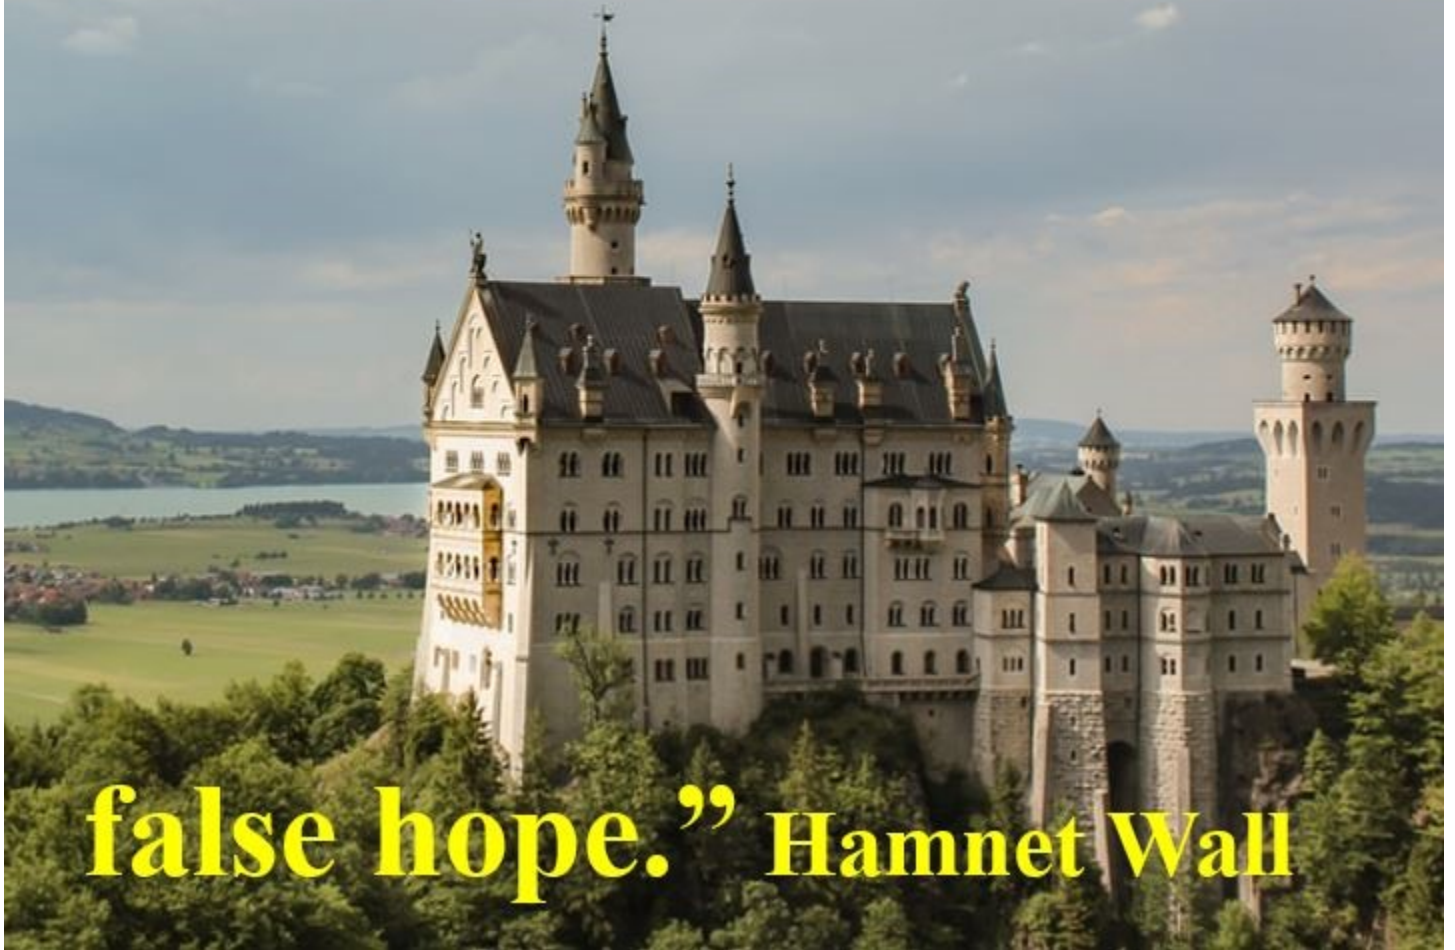

“Did Jeffrey Dahmer’s father say,

‘At least, he died doing what he loved.’?” Hamnet Wall

“Visualize grandiose success. It’s the first step to false hope.” Hamnet Wall

“My intolerance is love.

“Your intolerance is hatred.”
Hamnet Wall

“Whoever defined plagiarism,

should be quoted.”

Hamnet Wall

“Hypocrisy must never be tolerated, unless I’m somehow involved.”

Hamnet Wall

“Don’t regret your sins.
They made you what you are, a corrupt, godless degenerate.”

Hamnet Wall